INTRODUCTION

The Idaho Nonprofit Compensation and Benefits Report was created to help nonprofit organizations throughout the state attract, retain and fairly compensate their employees, and comply with new 990 documentation requirements. The data collected in the survey represents the practices of participating organizations reporting from October and November of 2009.

The report includes data from 85 participating nonprofit organizations, for 16 positions covering approximately 530 employees. The intent of this report is to assist nonprofit organizations in developing reasonable compensation and benefit packages. We plan to survey nonprofit organizations every two years and publish updated reports. We are pleased with the initial response to this survey and anticipate increased participation in the future.

Please review the Survey Methodology and the section on How to Use This Report carefully before attempting to use the data or interpret the results.

Survey Methodology

Nonprofit organizations across the state were invited to participate in the survey in the fall of 2009. It was conducted electronically using Survey Monkey as the online instrument. In an effort to maintain confidentiality, data is not reported when less than three employees are reported for a particular cut of the data. There are several situations where one or two organizations represent most or all of the data points. As such, individuals using the survey report should be careful not to read too much into the data when the sample base is very small. Going forward, job descriptions will be reviewed where the sample size is less than desirable to insure that benchmark positions included in the survey reflect typical staffing models of Idaho nonprofit organizations likely to participate in the survey.

Composite survey results are reported for all 16 positions. In addition, survey results are broken down by region, organizational focus and operating budget. It is in these breakdowns where the sample size, at times, is small and organizations should be cautious about how much is read into the data.

How to Use This Report

The purpose of the report is to provide information about the compensation and benefit practices of a significant number of nonprofit organizations. The report does not recommend any particular level of pay and benefits but rather is intended to provide nonprofit organizations with a tool to assist them in designing their respective pay and benefit policies and practices. The report should be used as a resource along with good judgment in terms of what an organization is able to do within budget parameters.

The report is divided into three sections followed by an appendix.

Section I: Summary and Findings

This section provides a general abbreviated view of the survey participants and a summary of responses to the survey.

Section II: Pay

The pay section provides salary data sorted by the region of the state, organizational focus and operating budget level. This section reflects pay levels by the $25^{\text {th }}$ percentile, $50^{\text {th }}$ percentile (or median), $75^{\text {th }}$ percentile and average for each job title described in the survey.
$25^{\text {th }}$ percentile - The point at which $25 \%$ of the responses are below and $75 \%$ are above.
$50^{\text {th }}$ percentile - The point at which $50 \%$ of the responses are below and $50 \%$ are above.
$75^{\text {th }}$ percentile - The point at which $75 \%$ of the responses are below and $25 \%$ are above.
Salary data was collected and is reported in hourly rates throughout most of the survey. A summary of annual salaries by position is also included. To calculate the annual salary, we used a maximum of 40 hours per work week. To convert an hourly wage to an annual wage, multiply the hourly rate by the number of hours worked during the course of the year. To calculate the annual salary of a full time employee, for example, multiply the hourly rate by 2,080 (40 hours per week times 52 weeks in a year).

Section III: Benefits

This section provides information on the benefits offered by the 85 organizations participating in the survey.

Appendix:

The job descriptions used to gather pay data are provided in the appendix. The value of the survey depends significantly on the job matches. It is important to read and understand the job descriptions when using the survey. A good match is when the duties and responsibilities are similar and the knowledge, skills and abilities required to perform those duties are the same. Also, size of an organization can have a significant impact on pay. It is typical for the market place to pay the Executive Director of a large organization with an operating budget of over $$ 10$ million with 500 employees significantly more than the Executive Director of an organization with an operating budget under $$ 100,000$ and less than 5 employees. While the titles may be the same, the magnitude of the jobs may be fairly different and pay level will typically reflect that difference.

Reviewing Report Data

The following steps are recommended:

1. Find a comparable position based on job content using the job descriptions in the appendix. Rather than relying on job title, it is important to review the job descriptions to find the position that most closely matches the position of which you want pay data.
2. Find the title for that position in the pay section and review the data points. The pay section provides data by regions of the state, organizational focus and operating budget.

Pay data is provided using quartiles ( $25^{\text {th }}, 50$ th, and $75^{\text {th }}$ percentiles) and averages. Quartiles allow evaluation of your organization's current salary structure and will help establish salary ranges reflective of the market for organizations similar to yours.

The Internal Revenue Service recommends that nonprofits determine compensation for key employees and officers (CEO, Executive Director, other top management officials, etc.) by utilizing a process that includes review and approval by independent persons, comparability data, and contemporaneous substantiation of the deliberation and decision. While the information provided here may be a useful tool for comparability data, nonprofit leaders should critically review the data to decide if the reported pay and benefit levels are appropriate to attract and retain quality employees.

Interpreting the data

- While this report provides helpful information concerning market practice, the data should not be regarded as recommendations in setting pay rates. Each organization should make its own determination in establishing pay ranges and levels in relation to the market.
- Small samples can be misleading; the smaller the number of responses, the less likely the numbers can be assumed to be reflective of the market.
- Respondents were not required to answer all questions, and therefore the totals are often less than the 85 completed surveys.
- Pay rates are reported as hourly rates in most cases in order to better reflect full and part-time positions.
- Organizations that had more than one employee in the same position were asked to report all employees to better reflect the total market.
- Organizations were asked to report their contact information which included location. Location information was grouped as follows:

| Eastern Idaho | North Central Idaho | Northern Idaho | South Central Idaho | Southwest Idaho |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| Blackfoot | Lewiston | Coeur d'Alene | Hailey | Boise |
| Driggs | Orofino | Moscow | Ketchum | Caldwell |
| Idaho Falls | Stites | Post Falls | Twin Falls | Garden City |
| Pocatello |  | Sandpoint |  | Meridian |
| Swan Valley |  |  |  | Nampa |

- Organizations were asked to identify or report the primary focus of their organization from the following categories:

Animal-relatedArts. Culture, HumanitiesCommunity Improvement, Capacity BuildingCivil Rights, Social Action & AdvocacyEducationalEnvironmental, BeautificationHealthHousing, ShelterHuman ServicesInternational, Foreign AffairsMental Health & Crisis InterventionPhilanthropy, Grant-making FoundationsRecreation & SportsReligion, Spiritual DevelopmentYouth DevelopmentPublic & Societal BenefitOther

None of the organizations reported International, Foreign Affairs as the primary focus. Several of the organizations reporting Other could have possibly been consolidated into one of the subsector categories listed, however we chose to reflect the data as reported.
